The purpose of this filing is to explain an adjustment to the second quarter report for David Wu For Congress campaign committee filed July 15, 2011. The adjustment is in the amount of $12,700, showing a receipt from Bank of America.

In April 2011, the committee discovered that a former campaign staffer was cashing checks made out to himself on the committee's Bank of America checking account. The checks were not authorized. They were stolen. The staffer was not authorized to sign checks. He was forging the signature of the authorized signer.

When this was discovered, the senior staff of the committee notified Bank of America, which flagged the account. Then, the committee closed the account and opened a new account. Because the checks were forgeries, Bank of America was responsible for the losses, and paid the committee, which resulted in the adjustment to the FEC reports.

The committee immediately reported the crimes to the police, and the staffer was caught, prosecuted and convicted.

Sincerely,

Robert Ross
